

Dear Annunciation Families,

I am so excited to join the Annunciation community as the new middle school math teacher.

I had the opportunity to attend a K-8 Catholic school and recognize the extraordinary value of a faith-based education. I graduated from the University of Michigan. After graduation, I served in the Minnesota College Success Corps, an AmeriCorps program that provides academic services for students enrolled in remedial reading, writing, and mathematics courses. During my year of service, I decided to pursue teaching as a career and enrolled in the Master of Arts in Teaching program at Hamline University, receiving my license in teaching mathematics 7-12. I have tutored students at all levels of math, from elementary to post-secondary, and have taught sixth and eighth grade math in Minneapolis.

I love helping students grow into more confident mathematicians who are willing to take risks and persevere. I look forward to working with parents and families to support the growth of each student.

Sincerely,
Ashley Salvo
